Court Rules Lawyers Have to Register

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled unanimously today that attorneys representing a foreign government in legal matters must register under the Foreign Agents Registration Act of 1938.

The tribunal, in an opinion by Justice Arthur J. Goldberg, ruled against Victor Rabinowitz and Leonard B. Boudin, New York attorneys, who were retained by the Republic of Cuba in 1960.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy called in 1961 for their registration under the act which requires detailed information about a registrant's work.

Rabinowitz and Boudin sued in U.S. Court of Appeals here, asking a declaration that they were not subject to registration. The lower court dismissed their complaint, holding it amounted to a suit against the United States to which the government had not given its consent. The attorneys then appealed to the Supreme Court.

Today's decision upheld the lower court's dismissal of the complaint, and further stated that the Foreign Agents Registration Act "plainly and unquestionably requires petitioners (the attorneys) to register."

Emerges Winner in Egg Hunt

ELIZABETHTON, Tenn. (AP) — It took over six hours and more than 6,000 eggs, but Free man Taylor emerged the winner Sunday in the annual Easter egg fight held in the Peters Hollow community near here.

The event, thought to be over 100 years old, is a contest to see whose brightly colored hard boiled eggshells are the hardest.

One contestant approaches another, holds out his egg and says, "See if you can crack this one," and the battle is on—a contestant must crack the other's egg with his own.

Taylor came armed with 32 dozen eggs.

Two Accidents Investigated

At S. Elm and West Second Saturday autos driven by Carolyn McIver and Mrs. H. S. Williams collided with only door damage resulting to the McIver auto, according to officers Clark and Shirley.

Shirley Dudley, 15, hit by a car Friday in downtown Hope, was not seriously injured. Investigating Officer McCulley said that the driver of the car, Willie J. Malone, said he was blinded by the sun and didn't see the pedestrian.

Escape of Youth Was a Miracle

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) — A 5-year-old boy, who fell part way down the sheer side of the Niagara River gorge and clung to a tree for an hour, today has only a chipped tooth, scratches and bruises to show for it.

Wayne Stadnyk climbed a retaining wall Sunday and plunged 150 feet down the gorge three miles downriver from Niagara Falls. He grabbed a tree growing out of the cliff and saved himself from falling another 100 feet to the bottom.

A police officer summoned by residents who had seen Wayne go over the wall heard his cries.

A volunteer rescue worker climbed up to the tree, clasped Wayne and fashioned a rope seat. Other rescue workers, including the boy's father, hauled them to the top.

Amnesty in Brazil Is Rescinded

By EDGAR MILLER

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Rear Adm. Paulo Mario da Cunha Rodrigues, a leftist who was appointed navy minister after a sidown rebellion in the ranks last week, did an about face today and rescinded an amnesty for the rebels.

The Navy Ministry press officer said investigations had been ordered into the action of men and officers involved in incidents that caused a crisis in the Brazilian navy and government.

A number of men were wounded in clashes and there may have been some killed, press reports said.

The ministry's action came after sharp criticism of the amnesty by the press and by naval officers, including more than 30 admirals. They protested government failure to punish enlisted sailors involved in a 40-hour rebellion, which was mostly passive.

Rodrigues acted after conferring with President Joao Goulart, who flew here from Brasilia, the capital, where Congress was convening to consider the crisis.

Brazil's Communist-dominated labor leadership charged that conservative military men were planning to overthrow left-leaning President Goulart. Leaders of, 2nd graf 138.

Rights Bill Is Heading for a Filibuster

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey leads off with a challenge today as Senate backers of the civil rights bill launch an all-out campaign aimed at winning passage of the controversial measure.

The Senate battle is expected to last for weeks. Although today is the first day the bill is before the Senate, opponents have been talking against it for almost a month.

The subject of the civil rights bill was brought up by newsmen late Saturday at a news conference President Johnson held at his Texas ranch home.

In reply to a request for his views on school boycotts, the President said "We believe in the right of petition as given under the Constitution," but he said he believed the civil rights bill would be a long step toward solving problems that result in petitions.

Asked if he thought it would be possible to get a cloture vote to cut off the expected Senate filibuster against the bill, Johnson said: "I haven't gone into that. I think that will have to be determined after the debate. I don't know whether it will be necessary or not."

In his prepared Senate speech today, Humphrey said bipartisan backers of the civil rights bill are anxious for "full and fair debate."

The Minnesotan, assistant Democratic leader and floor manager for the bill, said "We are also willing to come to a decision on each title of the bill and on the bill itself."

"We are willing to let a majority of the Senate say 'yes' or 'no' on voting rights, public accommodations, school desegregation, equal employment opportunity and the other provisions of this legislation," he said.

Then in a direct challenge to the bill's opponents, led by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., Humphrey expressed hope that they "will be equally willing to permit the Senate to work its will, after an opportunity for a searching examination and analysis of each and every provision."

Russell, conceding that his relatively small group of Southerners had been bested in the preliminary skirmishes, has announced that they had just begun to fight.

After the weeks of preliminary infighting, Humphrey appeared to be understanding his case when he made it clear that supporters did not intend to ram the bill "through the Senate without full and extensive debate."

In fact, he anticipated that the detailed explanation planned for the rest of the week may bring accusations that civil rights supporters are "conducting their own filibuster."

"I reject such charges as spurious, without substance and, in fact, ridiculous," he said.

Humphrey needed 55 pages of legal length paper for his prepared speech on the 11 sections of the bill. He urged the Senate to consider each title separately in the weeks ahead.

17 Violent Deaths in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two Lake Village women were killed and a small girl seriously hurt late Sunday night in the collision of their car and a tractor-trailer rig near Lake Village.

Their deaths brought to 17 the number of violent deaths recorded in the state during the week ended at midnight Sunday.

State Trooper Travis Nash said Mrs. Leona Sindle, 50, the driver, and Elizabeth Sindle, 21, died when their car pulled from Arkansas 144 onto U.S. 65 and was struck by a Gunn Distributing Co. truck driven by John York, 52, of Little Rock. Billy Jean Sindle, about 10, was hurt.

Robert Manes, 50, and Lee Williams, 35, both of Altheimer were killed Sunday in a two-car accident on U.S. 79, eight miles north of Pine Bluff.

And Larry S. Hughes, 24, of Perryville, Mo., died when his car and a tractor trailer met head-on on U.S. 67 near Swifton.

During the week 11 persons died in traffic accidents and six were killed in the crash of a B-47 Air Force bomber near Jacksonville.

Police Making Checks Today to See That Spa's Biggest Industry, Gambling, Is Dead

By ALVIN SCHAY

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Police Chief John Erney took the pulse of gambling in this resort city today and confirmed that it was dead.

But he predicted it would come back to life by this time next year, when Oaklawn Park holds its next racing meet.

Gambling in the casinos and bars stopped after Saturday night on order of Gov. Orval E. Faubus. Casino equipment was removed Sunday and slot machines were being taken out of bars today, Erney said.

"But they've always been open and closed and I think they will open again this time," he said. "They're going to try to make it legal in the November election and I think they can do it with a good campaign."

Asked if he thought gambling would rise again even if it was not legalized, Erney said, "It's a 50-50 deal. It might open up gradually, depending on the pressure from around the state and from the governor's office."

"If he (Faubus) says no, we'll keep it closed," Erney said.

This year's 43-day Oaklawn Park racing season, which in past has paralleled the height of the illegal gambling season, ends Saturday. Pari-mutuel betting is legal.

A move is underway to legalize gambling on a local option basis through an initiated act in the November election.

Almost 1,000 casino employees will be without jobs. One of the largest casinos had a payroll of about $1.5 million a year.

Hot Springs will be without $140,000 it gets each year in taxes on the gambling.

Estimates on the amount spent annually on illegal gambling run to more than $50 million. And the amount spent on housing, food and services would probably double that.

A city official said off the record that 25 per cent of the city's 28,377 residents would be affected immediately by the shutdown.

Oaklawn Park here, where pari-mutuel betting is legal, showed a decline in attendance and betting last week. With six days left in the 43-day race meeting, mutuel machines have handled $22.6 million.

Today police will check all casinos to make sure they stay closed. They will also visit many bars, restaurants, and other businesses to see that slot machines are removed.

Many of the clubs will remain open, at least for now. The sale of mixed drinks, also illegal in Arkansas, was apparently not affected by the close-down order and will continue.

The shutdown was put in motion by a Baptist minister from northwest Arkansas.

The Rev. Roy H. Galyean of Gravette, who represents Benton County in the Arkansas House of Representatives, introduced a House resolution condemning illegal gambling.

The House, in special session to pass a new voter registration law, gave 91-3 approval last Thursday.

Faubus, saying he was acting on mandate from the House, ordered city officials to close down gambling. If they didn't, the governor said, he would send in state police to handle the job.

MacArthur Is Fighting for His Life

By JOHN BARBOUR

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur, fighting for his life, developed a kidney condition of "grave concern," during the night, doctors at Walter Reed Hospital reported today. They said his condition remained critical.

The doctors also reported that the general had "unfortunately" developed a recurrence of intermittent bleeding from his esophagus, the condition that prompted his second operation more than a week ago.

MacArthur is attempting to weather the impact of his third major operation in 24 days. He has been receiving bedside aid of an arsenal of life-supporting equipment.

The 84-year-old general was under sedation during the night, and was receiving intravenous fluids, blood transfusions and oxygen as he required it.

But, the doctors said, the five-star general was still in critical condition, as he has been for several days.

Late Sunday night, hospital spokesmen said that Mrs. MacArthur had visited her husband several times through the day. Earlier, they indicated the general was wavering between consciousness and sedation.

The latest emergency came early Easter morning and doctors had to operate for a third time — the second emergency surgery in seven days.

They removed about eight feet of small intestine after a portion of it had become trapped in an old hernia. It had literally strangled for lack of blood.

Doctors said they had found

Arctic Blast Drops State Temperature

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An arctic high dropped rapidly from the Dakotas into Arkansas today, bringing record low temperatures to many sections of the state and threatening even lower mercury marks Tuesday.

A low of 24 degrees at Little Rock set both a record low for the date and an all-time record for this time of year.

Some stations reporting new low temperatures for the month of March — or lows equal or exceeded for so late in the spring season — were Memphis, 25; Fort Smith, 26; and Texarkana, 34.

Other low readings included a 16 at Calico Rock, 15 at Gilbert, 18 at Harrison, 22 at Batesville and Morrilton, 23 at Ozark and Dardanelle, 25 at Hot Springs and Newport.

Camden and Pine Bluff had 28 degree weather.

The U.S. Weather Bureau called for a hard freeze warning again tonight, with lows from 16 to 24 degrees in the northeast and from 24 to 32 in the southwest.

High temperatures Sunday were mostly in the 50s north and 60s south, compared to highs expected to be mostly in the 40s today.

The Weather Bureau called for fair and a little warmer Tuesday.

Torn Alaska Begins Job of Cleaning Up

By MURLIN SPENCER

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — As Alaskans toiled to dig out from the rubble of Friday's great earthquake, Civil Defense officials listed new casualty figures today of 21 known dead and 83 missing and presumed dead.

Fifty-five were reported to have been injured.

This means if those presumed dead—most were washed to sea by tidal waves following the quake—are indeed dead the toll will be more than 100.

Before this morning's report, an estimated 70 had been listed as dead or presumed so.

Gov. William A. Egan made a new damage estimate Sunday night of $350 million for this far north state, where industry in several south-central coastal towns was virtually obliterated.

Civil Defense officials gave this breakdown on casualties:

Anchorage, with a metropolitan population of 100,000 and the state's largest city, 8 dead and 2 presumed dead, 50 injured.

Kodiak, 7 dead, 14 presumed dead, 2 injured.

Valdez, 1 dead, 30 presumed dead, 2 injured.

Seward, 2 dead, 20 presumed dead, 2 injured.

Whittier, 1 dead, 12 presumed dead, 1 injured.

Cordova, 1 dead, 5 presumed dead, injured unknown.

Port Ashton, 1 dead, 5 presumed dead, injured unknown.

A stunned population began to realize the economic ruin carried by the quake. In some communities, industry was as much as 95 per cent wiped out.

"It might take a year and a half to two years to rebuild," said Mayor Bruce Woodford of smashed Valdez, "but we'll make it."

Egan said his estimate of property damage was conservative. Other unofficial estimates were higher.

Egan had increased the figure after visiting Valdez, his home town.

Information from many of the heavy-hit areas was sketchy at best. In Kodiak, where a tidal wave washed out the waterfront, one report said martial law had been proclaimed. Police refused to confirm or deny the report.

Edward A. McDermott, President Johnson's personal representative on the scene, was flying back to Washington today

Police Making

Police Chief John Ermy went to the casinos and told the operators that Saturday night would be the last for the casinos, which for 100 years have attracted gambling buffs from across the nation.

Whether the closedown is permanent is a big question. One operator predicted the casinos would be in full swing next year.

A move is underway to legalize gambling through an initiated act in the November general election.

The man who most consider the kingpin of illegal gambling here, Hot Springs - born Dane Harris, said he felt the resort city and its glittering night life had played a large part in doing away with "the old slow-train-through-Arkansas image." Mayor Dan Wolf, lamenting the closedown, said gambling has been a steady part of the city's economy. "You can't just yank it out, like a bad tooth."

For now, Hot Springs still has its thermal baths, legal horse racing, water sports, clubs — and mixed drinks.

a small perforation in the removed section—but that then had been no gangrene.

From the time that report came Sunday, the only succeeding reports had been of "no change" in the general's condition. His family was close by—either in the recovery area or in the executive suite of the Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

MacArthur entered the hospital 28 days ago today suffering from severe jaundice — and on March 6 underwent his first operation. Doctors removed gall-stones and his gall bladder to relieve a bile obstruction causing the jaundice.

Recovery progressed normally, with the general receiving visitors, taking short walks and eating a regular diet.

Last Monday he was stricken with the rupture and bleeding of a varicose vein in his esophagus. Doctors operated again, this time under emergency conditions, to stem the bleeding. They rerouted major veins to relieve the pressure, removing the spleen in the process, and stopped the bleeding.

Again recovery seemed to continue normally, until the general was hit again, this time by pneumonia, an inflammation

Garland Students Have Easter Assembly Program

The fourth grade at Garland Elementary School, Mrs. Jess Davis teacher, and the sixth grade, Miss Kathleen Broach teacher, presented a program of choral readings and songs for the student body Thursday, March 26. The fourth grade recited the Easter Story from the sixteenth chapter of Mark and sang the spiritual "Not A Mumbling Word." The sixth grade sang "Alleluia, Alleluia." Mrs. Davis accompanied both groups at the piano and soloists were Douglas Byrd and Gail Forrester.

Malone - Anger Engagement Is Announced

Colonel and Mrs. Frank Malone, who are with the Air Force in Spangdahlem, Germany, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Kathryn, to Tom Edward Anger, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Anger of Marysville, Michigan.

Miss Malone will graduate in May from Marjorie Webster Junior College in Washington, D.C. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. F. C. Malone and Mrs. Claudia Hutson of this city.

Mr. Anger is a graduate of Michigan State University and is an economist working in the Center for Naval Analysis in Arlington, Virginia. A June wedding at Spangdahlem is planned.

World News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Ethiopia and Somalia agreed today to enforce a cease-fire along their disputed frontier and pull back their troops 10 to 15 miles by April 6.

After a six-hour meeting in Khartoum, the two delegations also consented to appointment of a joint commission to supervise the troop withdrawal, cessation of hostile propaganda by Thursday and continuation of the peace talks at a later date.

TOKYO (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer was reported "doing fine" today after an attack of gastro-intestinal bleeding and diarrhea.

Doctors said the 53-year-old ambassador's condition was "satisfactory in all respects." Reischauer is recovering from a stab wound in the right thigh, inflicted by a mentally deranged Japanese a week ago, but there was no explanation for the intestinal flareup Sunday.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Ailing King Sud is reported to have agreed after a long power struggle to turn over virtually full rule to his ambitious younger brother, Premier Crown Prince Faisal.

Informants said the 62-year-old monarch soon will take a long leave from his oil-rich domain, retaining in name only the crown he has worn since Nov. 9, 1953.

PARIS (AP)—Half a dozen masked bandits carrying sub-machine guns and pistols held up a private gambling club early today, then set it afire.

The last club members had left. The bandits made the employees lie on the floor and cleaned out the cash registers and two safes. Then they poured gasoline on the floor, set it afire and fled.

LONDON (AP)—The Home Office has warned Britain's government employees again of the security risk in contacts with Communist envoys.

A circular ordered civil servants to report all contacts arising outside normal business. It warned them to interpret the term "official" widely "since most Sino-Soviet bloc nationals serving or traveling abroad are officials of one kind or another."

DOROTHY DIX

NOT GETTING AHEAD?

THIS TEST MAY SHOW WHY BY DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

Most of us want to get ahead in our jobs, and when we don't get the promotion we'd expected, we search for a reason or rationalizations like these:

"I'm not the kind that flatters the boss," or "I'm not a yes-man," or "It's on account of my religion, or race, or background."

Most often these excuses are not valid. The probability is that other factors have influenced the decision.

Guidance supervisor Walter Duckett of the Federation Employment Service has discovered what these factors are. I've put them in the form of a test. If you haven't had a promotion in some time it might be of interest to you to answer these questions as truthfully as possible. A wife might take the test for her husband. Here are the eight questions:

1. Are you absent more than five working days a year?
2. Do you usually arrive at your job in the nick of time?
3. Do you produce about as much work as the average person performing your duties?
4. Even when you are justifiably criticized, do you try to defend yourself?
5. Do you seem to get into more accidents than others working with you?

6. Are you often on the outs with other employees?
7. If an emergency arose, would you prefer to wait for instructions before acting?
8. Do you believe that most large firms try to chisel their employers?

Ideally, all these questions should be answered "No." If your answer is "yes" to any one of them, you may have found the reason you didn't get ahead. If your answers were mostly "yes-es," your daydreams are getting in the way of your dreams of getting ahead.

When Junior Balks What about the boy who doesn't want to go to college? His marks and his I.Q. test are high enough. His teachers have always told his parents, "Jimmy's a bright boy, but lazy."

In his junior year of high school, he wanted to quit. He told his parents he was tired of studying. Jimmy's parents, in desperation, promised him that if he graduated high school they would get him a car.

Now, all his cousins and most of his friends are going on to higher education, but Jimmy doesn't want to join them.

His parents are upset. They're embarrassed when all their friends ask, "What college is Jimmy going to?" And they're frightened when they read the statistics: The majority of the unemployed are found among the unskilled workers.

"What will you do Jimmy?" Jimmy says he'd like to sell cars, and maybe teach water-skiing. His parents shake their heads sadly.

His parents ought to realize that a decision at 17 is not irrevocable. Jimmy can get his education in later years by going to night school. He can also enter college at 20, or 25, or at any age, for that matter. Many of the professors who taught in college following World War II recall the G.I. students as far more serious than the average freshman.

Even if Jimmy doesn't go back to school, there's more than one road to a successful life. For the average person, college or some specialized training makes success easier.

But Jimmy may be an unusual person. As he drifts along, he may suddenly discover the work that interests him. And Jimmy's parents should remember that all they can do is offer him an education. The decision to accept it or reject it is their son's.

Tomorrow: Why the college girl should say no.

Trading Stamps Lick the Problem

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Parents and pupils have licked the transportation problem of Dallas Christian grade school by collecting 1,305,000 trading stamps.

It took two years for a committee headed by Mrs. John A. Witmer to collect assorted stamps and trade for a single variety.

Mrs. Witmer and principal David C. Higgins arranged to swap the stamp collection today for a new bus, the third in the private school's fleet.

Eight Japs Killed

TOKYO (AP)—Eight Japanese workers died of gas poisoning today when a gas explosion trapped them 3,000 yards inside a coal mine they were closing.

The explosion occurred at a colliery in northern Kyushu Island. The workers were removing equipment.

Torn Alaska

The President already has declared the 49th state a major disaster area. McDermott said it was obvious the full disaster relief program permitted under present law would not be enough.

At best, he said, it would take two to four months to get Alaskan economy into any workable shape.

Alaska Senators Ernest Gruening and E. L. (Bob) Bartlett, also Washington-bound, indicated they would press for an immediate aid grant in Congress.

Typically, Seward, 60 miles south of Anchorage, had only two known dead, but its business was 95 per cent destroyed and few of its men still had jobs.

The Alaskan Railroad, vital route from Seward to the interior, was a jumble of wrecked cars and twisted rails. A mile-long waterfront area collapsed into the sea.

All along the ring of the Gulf of Alaska where the great quake struck in fury at 5:36 p.m. Friday it was a similar story of low casualties but mighty ruin.

Anchorage, the metropolis of the state with an area population of 100,000, counted 12 dead. Its business district and its best residential sections were tottering heaps of awesome wreckage.

Kodiak Island enumerated 12 dead. Its fishing fleet and canning plants were wrecked. One hundred and five miles southeast of Anchorage, reports from the small town of Valdez — pronounced "Valdeez" — said many of the 32 dead were on a dock that collapsed when hit by a huge sea wave.

The sea waves also worked terrible and deadly destruction thousands of miles away, killing at least 16 persons in California and Oregon. Worst of these sufferers was Crescent City, Calif., more than 2,000 miles from the quake's epicenter. There 11 persons died and 15 were still missing.

Anchorage, center of the Alaskan recovery effort, went soberly about its business, flinching at successive after-shocks.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—The melancholy quiet of disaster's aftermath has settled over this pitifully scarred city. Soldiers guard deserted streets. Weary people line up with bottles, buckets, jars, coffee tins, at big waterfront trucks. Others line up at a school building for typhoid shots, others at the city park for soup in steaming vats.

Eyes are dull from shock and fatigue, but if voices are low, spirits seem amazingly high. The crucible of common misfortune has brought out the best in nearly everyone, and selflessness has become contagious, though the struggle simply to keep one's own family warm and fed is exhausting.

At the home of construction worker Victor Paal seven children, five of them neighbors, huddle before the fireplace. For them Good Friday's wicked earthquake has brought only grand adventure.

They melt snow in a big yellow plastic trash basket on the hearth, eat lunch from olive drab tins, spend the night together in sleeping bags. A neighbor, Frank Reed, has an electric stove, so Mrs. Paal is able to cook one hot meal a day.

As neighbors swapped experiences, it became more clear what it was like during the awful minutes that began at 5:36 p.m. Friday.

"Are you sure it was only minutes?" said Clarence Colbert, an engineer. "I'd swear that damn thing lasted at least a half hour. We were all at home. At first I thought it was just another small quake—we get 'em all the time here."

"Then I heard a sound, like rolling drums, and I knew it was big. I hollered 'Let's get out of here!'—and we did."

Strangely, few others recall hearing any sound at all other than glass breaking and furniture tumbling. Jean Miller, for instance, was at the doctor's of-

Young Kennedys Still at Resort

STOWE, Vt. (AP)—The adult Kennedys went home but left a group of the young fry at this ski resort today, ready for more fun on the snowy slopes.

The family plane, Caroline, took off Sunday night from Burlington Airport with Mrs. John F. Kennedy, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and his wife, Ethel; Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and his wife, Joan, and Eunice Shriver, wife of the Peace Corps director, Sargent Shriver.

They had spent a long Easter weekend skiing on Mt. Mansfield.

It was the former First Lady's first try at the winter sport, although she is an adept water skier.

It was the first time on skis, too, for her children, Caroline, 6, and John F. Kennedy Jr. They remained with a number of young Kennedys and Shriver in the care of some family employees.

fice with two of her seven children and didn't even feel the earth shake at first.

"I started to lean against the wall to talk with Dr. Mills," Mrs. Miller said, "and the wall moved away from me. The doctor pushed me and the children to the floor and fell down on top of us. When it first happened, I thought it was just a truck going by."

Students of medicine might be surprised to learn how many separate and individual notions — mostly irrelevant — pass through a man's head in moments of crisis.

There was nothing really complicated about Charlie Medders. He was a pretty average guy. Out of his element, beyond his depth, he had—down below—been up against dreads he could not understand, allowing primitive fears to stampede and make a fool of him.

But a gun dug into the back of his neck was within the realm of familiar experience. He stayed put, his strongest emotion one of bitter disgust. "You don't have to shoot," he growled. "I know when I'm beat."

"All who believe that can stand on their heads! Now, be careful. I'm jumpy as a pocketful of crickets," the voice of Belita Storm remarked dryly, "and you know what they say about excitable women."

Medders, beneath his breath, cursed. It burnt a feller up enough having anyone get the drop on him, but to discover it was a woman and, of all women, this one, was a cross no man had ought to have to bear. He'd been suspecting for some while she might find her way back. "You come by yourself?"

Behind the resentful bitterness, it sounded like a chump about to pitch in his hand.

But she hadn't come out here to sympathize with him. "Bunks and his red brothers are out there somewhere. I got a look at them yesterday, off west of Gu Chuapo. You don't have to worry," she advised with a sniff, "they won't show up here through any carelessness of mine. You can climb out and turn around. But watch yourself."

Medders looked as disgruntled and fed up as he'd sounded.

She said straight-out: "You ought to have a keeper."

Medders, beginning to bridle, broke off to peer more carefully at her. "What's that supposed to mean?"

"You've really fixed yourself up fine, prancing around with that Imogene Winters! You think she'd look twice at a nump like you?"

"Now just a dang minute—" "You listen to me! When they were talking it up, didn't you claim any common stock put out for this mine would be nothing

CITY BANK NIGHT DEPOSITS

Bob Thomas at the Movies

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If Andy Williams looked harried, it was because he had just spent his lunch period with his tax men. "Sometimes at this time of year," he sighed, munching on a hamburger in his office afterward, "you wonder if it's all worth it. You end up with so little."

That appeared to be merely fiscal fatigue, because later he admitted that he would be willing to perform his work for nothing. His work is singing, and it's a job he does very well. So well that NBC wanted him to sing on 26 shows next season, against this season's 12.

"I didn't want to," he remarked, "but NBC told me they had no spot to put specials next season. In fact they said it was 26 shows or nothing. I accepted."

It wasn't quite as cut and dried as that. Andy exacted certain benefits, some of them more than fringe.

"NBC agreed to re-do the entire sound system in our studio at Burbank," he said. "It's a job that may cost around $600,000, and I think it's worth it. We just can't get the same quality in sound that you can get in a recording studio. I think the improvement in sound will be noticed by enough people to make a difference in the size of our audience."

Other concessions include better office space for Andy's growing organization and an earlier time slot—Monday at 10.

"I think that's important too," he remarked. "In traveling around the country I've had lots of people tell me they were sorry their children couldn't stay up until 10 to see my show. I know we can get a better rating if we can get to that younger audience."

while the rock tossers injured three drivers.

The incident within the shadow of Mount Kilimanjaro touched off an investigation by Tanganyika police. Safari officials could not identify the injured drivers but said one suffered an eye injury.

As the cars reached Dar-Es-Salaam, they were led by Peter Hughes, a Nairobi motor dealer. Hughes had lost 54 penalty minutes. The leading American entry was driven by Viscount Kim Mandeville, who had lost 207 penalty minutes.

What Finley did, police said, was fling two of the pies in the face of delivery man Leland E. Baum as Baum unloaded the pies from his truck Thursday.

Finley, promptly clapped in jail on a battery charge, said Baum "has no sense of humor."

Liston Case Goes Before Senate Probers

By W. B. RAGSDALE, Jr.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators ask more questions today about reports underworld figures hung around while Sonny Liston trained for his heavyweight championship fight with Cassius Clay.

They also want to know why Liston gave away stock which brought $100,000 in profits from the Clay fight to a man identified as a former associate of mobster Frank (Blinky) Palermo.

These questions came up as the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee sought to wind up its hearings into circumstances surrounding the Feb. 25 fight won by Clay when Liston failed to come out for the seventh round.

In the new development, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., asked the Senate investigators to find out whether associates of Frankie Carbo had been in Clay's and Liston's Florida training camps. Carbo, now in prison, is former underworld czar of boxing.

The subcommittee met three days last week and only heard three of seven scheduled witnesses. Still remaining to be heard are:

Bob Nilon, brother of Liston's financial adviser, Jack, who was executive vice president of Inter-Continental Promotions Inc., a firm organized to promote Liston's championship fights.

Sam Margolis, Philadelphia vending machine operator identified by the subcommittee as once owning an apartment house with Palermo.

Witnesses last week testified that Liston signed over, apparently getting nothing in return, 275 of his 500 shares, 50 per cent stock control in Inter-Continental to Margolis.

Margolis has said he got the stock for helping Liston set up the deal to get a share of the fight's promotional profits, something fighters normally don't get.

Salvatore Avena, Philadelphia attorney who figured in organizing Inter-Continental and who later got 50 of the 275 shares of stock transferred to Margolis.

Fiery Latin Ready for Stardom

By BOB EGER

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Charles Pasarell, the fiery young Latin with the big game, has served notice he may be ready for tennis stardom.

The hard-hitting UCLA student from San Juan, Puerto Rico, defeated Dennis Ralston 6-3, 3-6, 6-4 Sunday to win his second straight Thunderbird Tennis Tournament.

Pasarell, ranked 10th nationally, dominated play with a strong service and powerful ground strokes that constantly kept the second-ranked Ralston on the defense.

"I'm playing much better than ever before," said Pasarell. "I thought Ralston played well against me but I still handled him. I'm looking forward to a good year."

Pasarell has reason to be optimistic. Among his other tennis victims was Chuck McKinley, the nation's top ranked amateur. McKinley fell in straight sets, 7-5, 6-3, in Friday's quarterfinals.

Ralston and McKinley still got a share of the glory. The Davis Cup stars combined for a 10-8, 6-4 victory over Yale's Gene Scott and veteran Ham Richardson of Dallas in men's doubles.

McKinley and Ralston pleased the crowd with their hustling retrieves and scoring slams which bounced out of the Phoenix Country Club center court area.

Janie Albert, who has been drubbing the nation's best junior players the past couple of years, showed she may be ready to hold her own in the women's ranks.

Miss Albert, of San Francisco, beat veteran Mimi Arnold of Santa Barbara, Calif., 6-3, 7-5 for the women's title. Janie, daughter of former pro football star Frankie Albert, scored repeatedly at the net against her more experienced opponent.

Miss Albert teamed with Southern California's Bill Bond for a 6-3, 2-6, 7-5 victory over Julie Heldman of San Francisco and Ian Crookenden of New Zealand in mixed doubles.

Staub Tells Story of Experiences

By JACK HAND

COCOA, Fla. (AP)—What is it like for a 19-year-old kid whirling around the majors as a regular? Rusty Staub of the Houston Colts tells an interesting story of his experiences last season.

"The first time I would see some of those established stars I would say to myself 'gee whiz, what am I doing here?' After the game started it was like playing any game.

"I knew I was the underdog. If I didn't do real good nobody expected me to. I was a little disappointed I didn't hit better than .224.

"Hitting against fellows like Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax was a little. But then I would dig in and bear down. I would tell myself this was not Class B, C or D but the majors. This is it and you sink or swim."

Incidentally, Staub hit a home run off Drysdale with one on to run off Drysdale with one on to win a 2-1 game from the Los Angeles Dodgers — his first homer.

Naturally, the young man from New Orleans was tortured by doubt during that first year.

"You wonder can you do it?" he explained. "Are you a big leaguer? Sometimes you do as good as the others. Sometimes you do better. Sometimes you get into a slump like when I went 0 for 27 but still I came back pretty good."

"Everybody asks if being overpublicized hurt me. Not that much. It was a great year for me. The experience you can't final two frames kept the Belaire Club from grabbing the team lead from the all-coast Vancouver Club of Seattle, pace-setter since March 1 with a 3055 outing.

The 2013 series, on games of 998-1018-997, was the first regular division score over 3000 since the Dunes Heating Club of Gary, Ind. made a run for the lead on a 3053 total on March 10.

Figures Celtics Will Recapture Pro Cage Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I think Boston will take it," Cincinnati had just knocked his club out of the National Basketball Association playoffs but Philadelphia 76ers Coach Dolph Schayes saw nothing but trouble ahead for the Royals.

"If Jerry Lucas' back doesn't come around it should be Boston in five or six games," Schayes said.

Cincinnati earned a shot at the formidable Celtics by outgunning Philadelphia 130-124 Sunday night in the decisive game of a best-of-five series. But Lucas' aching back may cripple the Royals' board game when they open a best-of-seven Eastern Division final set Tuesday in Boston.

The pairings for the Western Division finals will be determined tonight when St. Louis and Los Angeles tangle in the last of their five-game series. The survivor plays San Francisco.

Lucas was sub-par in the Philadelphia series, although the rookie star pulled down 11 rebounds and scored 15 points Sunday. He reinjured his back a week ago and has been playing part-time since.

"I'm getting a little better," he said after the game. "I still can't jump as well as I should. But in a couple of days I hope to be ready." Coaches Jack McMahon, otherwise happy after the Royals streaked by Philadelphia on the strength of deadly second-half shooting, hopes so too.

The Royals hit on seven of their first eight shots in the second half and turned a 59-59 deadlock into a 74-61 bulge. Robertson didn't miss on nine shots in the last 24 minutes.

John Kerr led Philadelphia with 31 points. Los Angeles came from 10 points down in the second half to whip St. Louis 97-88 Saturday and even the Western series at two victories apiece.

Kansas Is Proud of Two Players

By KELSO STURGEON

LExINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Folks from the plains of Kansas should be mighty proud of Dave Stallworth of Wichita and Willie Murrell of Kansas State.

Stallworth, a 6-foot-7 All-America, and Murrell, a 6-6 Kansas State star, teamed up to lead the West to a 79-73 victory over the East in the East-West College All-Star basketball game.

Murrell was named the game's Most Valuable Player, but it was Stallworth's clutch efforts in the last 1:45 of play that led the West to victory Saturday. The vote for MVP honors was taken at halftime, thus Stallworth's brilliant effort was not taken into consideration.

With 1:54 to play, the East tied the game 75-75 on a 10-foot jumper by Jeff Mullins of Duke. The West missed its next shot and the East had a chance to move out in front, but Stallworth stole the ball, drove in toward the basket, was fouled and hit two free throws to make it 77-75.

With 1:35 to get Ron Bonham of Cincinnati hit a free throw to cut the margin to one. The West again missed its shot and the East had another chance to go ahead with about a minute to go.

The East worked the ball carefully for the good shot. Wally Jones of Villanova thought he had it and attempted to shoot, but Stallworth just took the ball out of his outstretched hands and raced down the court for a goal to make it 79-76 with just 43 seconds to go.

The only scoring the East could do in the remainder of the contest was two free throws by John Thompson of Providence to cut the lead to 79-78 with 28 seconds to go. The West went into a stall for the remainder of the game.

buy. I was stickled to stay up here. Definitely, you learn more up here than you would in the minors. I made a lot of lousy, stupid plays but the mistakes stick with you. When you make a mistake up here, you remember it and don't do it again if you can help it."

Saturday the Hope High Golf team defeated Camden 14½ to 3½ behind Sam Strong's booming drives and Lee Fenwick's iron play. There was never any doubt with Matt Wassell and Fred O. Ellis playing steady throughout the match.

Earlier this week the Hope team defeated Magnolia 10½ to 7½. Friday the Bobcats take on Camden in a return match at the Hope Country Club.

Hill Rise Is Kentucky Derby Choice

By ORLO ROBERTSON

The 3-year-olds move front and center this week in a full scale prediction leading up to the May 2 running of the Kentucky Derby.

Hill Rise, the Kentucky Derby favorite, is expected to be the only top sophomore absent from the competition that starts today with the $20,000-added Maryland Derby at Laurel.

On Saturday comes the $100,000-added Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park, the $50,000-added Gotham at Aqueduct, the $25,000 Arkansas Derby at Oaklawn Park and the $15,000 California Derby Trial at Golden Gate Fields.

Repeating, one of the three that trainer Lucian Laurin is pointing for the Kentucky Derby is the best known performer in the one mile of the Maryland Derby. He packs top weight of 124 pounds.

Northern Dancer, the Kentucky Derby's second choice off his victory in the Flamingo at Hialeah Park, head the field in the 1½ miles of the Florida Derby.

The Canadian-owned colt showed he was ready by matching the Gulfstream record with a 1:22 2-5 clocking for seven furlongs in a four-length victory last Saturday.

The Dancer's rivals will include Dandy K., surprise winner of last week's Fountain of Youth Stakes; Roman Brother, a strong second in the Fountain of Youth and attempting to regain his early season form; Ky. Pioneer, who still appears to be Calumet's leading Kentucky Derby hope, and probably Saltville and The Scoundrel.

The one-mile of the Gotham will bring together the leading Kentucky Derby eligibles quartered in the New York area. They include Chieftain, winner of Bowie's Governor's Gold Cup; Determined Man, surprise winner of the Bay Shore at Aqueduct; Mr. Brick, Bupers, Quadrangle and Traffic.

Hill Rise will be the chief West Coast representative at Churchill Downs the first Saturday in May. But the Trial and the California Derby itself April 18 could well produce another candidate or two. The same goes for the 1½ miles of the Arkansas Derby.

Renfrow Races to a Record

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Ed Renfrow raced to a record clocking in the 13th annual running of the Arkansas Relays here Saturday.

Renfrow blazed to a 13.9 time in the 120-yard high hurdles breaking the record 14 flat set in 1961 by Rex Stucker of Arkansas State.

That was one of 10 records beaten in the meet, which clearly was dominated by Missouri and Oklahoma State.

Arkansas' only other impressive showings were in the broad jump and the pole vault.

Barry Bearden vaulted 15 feet to finish second in the event, and Dick Perry broad jumped 24 feet, 2½ inches.

No team totals have ever been kept in the relays. Renfrow's time was .2 of a second off the school record set by Clyde Scott, who later became an Olympic hurdler.

Mantle Blasts Two Homers in Yankee Win

By MIKE RATHET

Report No. 2 is in on Mickey Mantle, whose fate apparently hinges on tape.

Last Thursday, Mantle's case history had an expenditure for tape—to bandage his legs. Sunday, Mantle's case history had an expenditure for tape—to measure his homers.

Mantle, the New York Yankees' $100,000-a-year slugger with the dime store legs, raised his batting average to .318 Sunday by lifting two long drives over the fences at Tampa, Fla., in a 6-4 exhibition baseball victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

The homers were the first of the spring training grind for Mantle, who had been forced into a four-day layoff by his ailing legs. He had complained about his left knee-operated on during the winter for torn cartilage.

"I was running real good when I came down here, but I haven't been running good the last couple of days," Mantle said when he issued Report No. 1 Thursday.

He concentrated on trotting against the Reds. Both homers were hit with Mantle batting right-handed against southpaw Joe Nuxhall, the first with a man on in the first inning traveling 350 feet and the second in the fifth with the bases empty rocketing 430 feet.

Report No. 2, however, still left doubts about the condition of Mantle's taped legs. In the field, he ran without any indication of lameness, but he let one hit fall in front of him instead of charging it in the Mantle manner.

While the American League champion Yankees were getting a boost from their No. 1 product, Sandy Koufax of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers turned in his sharpest pitching performance in a 3-1 loss to Minnesota.

Koufax became the first pitcher to go all the way this spring as he limited the Twins to five hits. Jimmie Hall ruined Koufax' effort with a two-run homer in the fourth and the Twins added an unearned run in the fifth.

Joining Hall as the day's hitting stars were Detroit rookie Willie Horton Julio Gotay of Pittsburgh Tim Lincecum of the New York Mets and Tony Conigliaro, a rookie with the Boston Red Sox who may be compiling one of the oddest hitting records ever produced.

Horton connected for a pinch-hit homer in the ninth inning of the Tigers' 2-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox in the opener of a doubleheader, then homered in the third inning of Detroit's 3-0 nightcap victory. Horton now has five homers.

Gotay collected two homers and two singles for five runs batted in as the Pirates walloped Philadelphia 13-4 while Harkness broke a hitless streak that had extended to 16 at-bats by slamming a homer, double and single in the Mets' 8-3 belting of Washington.

Conigliaro led the Red Sox to a 6-4, 13-inning victory over the Los Angeles Angels with a homer, two triples and a double. The 19-year-old outfielder now has collected 15 hits—13 for extra bases. His batting average is .288; his slugging average .750.

In other games St. Louis edged Milwaukee 6-5 in 11 innings, Kansas City defeated Houston 2-1, the Chicago Cubs outslugged San Francisco 1-7, Baltimore nipped the Colts' B team 2-1 and Cleveland downed the Angeles' B squad 7-6.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Roy Emerson of Australia exhibited a powerful service and accurate ground strokes in defeating Manuel Santana of Spain Sunday for the Good Neighbor Tennis Tournament title.

Emerson, who has not lost a singles match in the Good Neighbor since 1960, fought off a Santana rally in the first set, then assumed command for the match, 7-5, 6-4, 6-2.

Emerson and countryman Ken Fletcher won the doubles crown from Boro Javanovic and Nicola Pilic, Yugoslavia, 6-3, 6-0, 6-4.

Nancy Richey of Dallas, third-ranked U.S. woman player, defeated the women's crown, 6-4, 6-2.

Rodriguez Again on TV Friday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Luis Rodriguez a familiar face to television boxing fans, will be featured again Friday night when he meets middleweight Jesse Smith of Philadelphia at Miami Beach in the television fight of the week.

The busy welterweight contender from Miami will be out to run his victory streak over heavier fighters to nine. Luis never has lost to a member of the 160-pound division although he usually spots the bigger boxers from five to 10 pounds.

It will be Rodriguez' second outing in two weeks against a middleweight. On March 20 he outpointed Holly Mims at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Rodriguez is getting in fighting trim for his third title fight with welterweight champion Emile Griffith of New York at Las Vegas June 12.

"I'm ready to fight any time my manager says," Luis said when told of the bout with Smith. "I can beat any middleweight around today. In another year I'm going to be the middleweight champion."

Two Injured in Spring Car Race

READING, Pa. (AP)—Roger McCluskey, of Tucson, Ariz., and Don Branson, of Champaign, Ill., appear questionable starters in the Indianapolis 500 on Memorial Day after being hurt in a sprint car race here.

A. J. Foyt, of Houston, Tex., won the 30-lap Reading Inaugural U.S. Auto Club Race Sunday in which nine laps were run under the caution flag. Two other drivers were injured and one escaped injury. Foyt's time was 13:24.69, and he won by a half-lap over Jim Maguire, of Dunellen, N.J.

McCluskey was injured when his car flipped over just as he had finished his second qualifying round. The accident occurred at the same spot where his car had spun out of control on the first qualifying round.

He suffered a compound fracture of the left forearm, bruises of the right shoulder and hand, a cut right forehead and a concussion.

Branson, Jim Hurtubise, of North Tonawanda, N.Y., and Bob Harkey, of Indianapolis, all were injured when they were hit by flying dirt during the afternoon's program.

Branson suffered a compound fracture of the right forearm and was hospitalized along with McCluskey. Both were reported in satisfactory condition today. Hurtubise and Harkey suffered bruises and cut eyes.

Two traps and a hooked shot into the woods cost him three bogies.

Campbell, first day leader with 67, had slumped to 73 in the next round, but charged back with 69 for second place. The 69 was the day's low score, tied by Dutch Harrison, celebrating his 54th birthday, and Red Funseth. Three.

Sharing third place at 210 were Tommy Jacobs, Lionel Hebert and Larry Mowry.

Bob Gajda, who held second place in each of the first two rounds with a pair of 68s, slumped to 75 for a four-way sixth place tie at 211. A triple bogey seven on the 17th, where he hit a ball out of bounds, cost him second place.
